King fears riots will last 3 years

IN PATERSON, N. J., overwhelming police forces subdue a youth in a third night of disorder there last week. Mayor Graves led 200 helmeted patrolmen in a search of persons on the street as a precautionary measure following the disturbances. Four persons were hurt and 28 arrested.

PATERSON, N. J. — New Jersey, with the lid blown off in three cities and just barely kept in in two others, has the hands of several areas where racial frustration flared into violence this week.

The attacks, clashes with police, and riots — so often warned of in the past by rights leaders — broke out new in Paterson, Elizabeth, and Passaic, all in New Jersey where riots racked Newark and Jersey City last week.

New Jersey's trouble was preceded by riots two-weeks ago in Harlem, Rochester, and Brooklyn, N.Y. It shared its problem this week, with Cleveland, Dallas, Chester, and Chester, Pa., and Des Moines, Iowa.

THE REV. Martin Luther King said in a sermon last night that Saturday that racial riots in the United States may continue for two or three years, while it may take 15 years to solve racial problems completely.

The rights leader was asked how long he thought the U.S. struggle will last when he arrived here by air from New York to attend a European Baptist Conference.

King said he would be in the U.S. for two or three years, racial riots will bring to the past. King replied, "In 15 to 20 years, the problem will be completely solved."

WHILE BELLAGUERED policemen, aided by rights leaders battle to restore order in the various cities, rights spokesmen are coming to grips with the real causes of the outbreaks, "hopeless frustration," he said.

Meanwhile there was much clucking of tongues by white and black world leaders and international agencies. At least one foreign paper called the racial outbreaks "the correct path."

The hottest battle-ground was Paterson and Elizabeth, N.J., where outbreaks have occurred for four consecutive nights. Paterson's mayor alerted 200 policemen and several fire companies, for the weekend.

Mayor Frank X. Graves Jr. ordered the alerted policemen out of the city's colored slum area to give colored community leaders a charge to halt rioting, looting and hoodlums by themselves.

The Mayor indicated he did not believe the leaders would be able to restore peace to the area—the city's fourth ward—but he was willing to give them a chance. The decision to pull back the beefed up, steel-helmeted police force from the area came after a meeting between Graves and representative of local chapters of CORE, the NAACP and white merchants.

ELIZABETH, N.J. — Twenty miles south in Elizabeth, where racial violence also continued for the third night, police said they were ready "for any eventuality." It would not speculate on what might happen during the weekend, but said police would continue to be on alert.

Twenty-eight persons were arrested and four persons, three of them policemen were injured in Paterson. In Elizabeth, seven colored youths were jailed. No one was reported injured in the Elizabeth rioting Saturday night.

PASSAIC, N.J. — A small group of colored and white youths clashed late Thursday. Police said no injuries, but several officers arrived at the scene in front of Krege's 5 and 10.

The fighting broke out as about four or five colored youths staged a hand-clapping snake dance at Main Ave. and Monroe St. in the center of this North Jersey community just south of riot town Paterson.

NEWARK, N.J. — Peace-makers in action is the way people here described officials of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and their efforts in helping to end the three days of rioting which broke out Monday.

Sunday night, and up into the early hours of Monday morning, Raymond M. Gustafson of Jersey City NAACP Branch, cruised the riot areas in a sound truck appealing in the streets to clear the streets and go home.

NEWARK, N.J. — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio said he was working "feverishly" with colored leaders here—the largest city to "avoid" the possibility of any outbreaks of racial violence. The entire police force was placed on "alert status" for possible violence.

A police official said "we've gotten a lot of information about a possible outbreak of violence in the city but we still have nothing concrete."

CLEVELAND — Two white men driving through a colored neighborhood were allegedly dragged from their car and beaten Friday night by a group of colored, but police said the incident had no racial aspects.

The local CORE meanwhile has again charged Cleveland police with brutality and has sought meetings with Locher to discuss the allegation.

Chaste is expected to meet with the group, which now plans to hold a demonstration at City Hall Saturday.

DALLAS, TEX. — A dozen police squad cars were rushed to South Dallas early Saturday to rescue a driver besieged by 150-300 shouting colored persons who moved in on the patrolmen.

Patrolmen E. C. Dundan A. Pearce and B. A. Blair held off the crowd until they were driven away by a police officer.

sions being made for the colored. They are still living in filth and garbage."

"If a colored person came up with a cure for cancer, it wouldn't be accepted in this town," he said.

Racial demonstrations erupted in the city last spring after colored brought charges of de facto segregation in the Chester school system.

Branch's group charged state and local police with brutality during the demonstrations.

Asked on the radio program, "Let's Find Out," last Sunday, if there was any one single colored leader who speaks for Harlem, Mr. Wilkins, declaring that there was not, added:

"This is sort of an illusion dwelt upon by a great many people that one man, or two men, can speak for a community of a half-million people. You do not expect that any one Puerto Rican can speak for all the Puerto Ricans in New York. Certainly not one Irishman can speak for all the Irish in New York."

He said that anyone who would expect that one colored person in or control all the colored persons in the City of New York is in for a disappointment.

'Dixie strategy' old water backers

He believes that Barnwell polls on Nov. 3. County is a good harbinger of what is happening in other counties throughout the state, and possibly other southern states that had initial Goldwater blueprint for victory listed in the Republican column.

THE STATE OF Georgia offers a good example of how the Goldwater "southern strategy" may backfire.

Before the Arizona senator won the GOP nomination, Georgia Republicans predicted he could carry the state without the support of colored voters.

Now George D. Stewart, state secretary of the Democratic Party, is saying that at this time, it was 2 to 1. We're going to take it this time about 3 to 1.

GOP worry and Democratic confidence are based on these hard political facts—

OVER 240,000 colored voters are registered in Georgia, according to Wiley A. Branton, director of the Southern Educational Council's Voter Education Project. The total is increasing daily.

Asked which candidate the colored voters will support, William Randall, Democratic co-chairman of the Georgia Voters League, a bipartisan organization said, "Goldwater's not even going to get a majority of the white voters and none of the colored voters are going to vote for him."

Theodore Appling of Fort Valley, Ga., promised that registration drive, in other middle and southern Georgia cities are being started immediately after the convention. Appling is vice president of the Georgia Democratic Association and field representative of the Georgia Voters League.

THE REV. ANDREW YOUNG, an aid to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., said, "I think every body is pretty upset about Goldwater."

He said that Hemen Williams and other field representatives of SCLC are launching an intensive registration campaign in the congressional district around Savannah.

Other registration drives are slated for Columbus, Albany and Augusta.

Demands refused, start bus boycott

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — This university city of 70,000 was without bus service Friday, the result of a colored boycott.

People started boycotting the Monday and directions of the Tuscaloosa Citizens for Action Committee and it was effective. The Druid Transit Co. said 90 percent of its passengers were colored riders.

H. Vann Waldrop, bus company lawyer, said "The next move is up to those boycotting. Unless they change their attitude, we're going to be pulling out for good."

Bus service ended Thursday night and Waldrop said it "was the last bus Tuscaloosa would see for an indefinite period."

T. Y. Rogers, who ordered the boycott said he did not want the company to go out of business. He said he wanted to negotiate.

Waldrop said the colored demands were so "unrealistic" negotiations were impossible.

TCAU last Friday demanded the company hire colored persons "in all capacities" immediately and that the for "official" office expenses in the members' home districts to $100 each month.

Rep. John Kyl, R-Iowa, sought in vain to get recorded roll call votes on the increases.

The House did reject by a 166-115 roll call vote a request for $10,000 by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., to pay already incurred expenses for House Labor and Education Committee's recent hearings on President Johnson's anti-poverty legislation.

Company see to it that criminal charges brought against the riders, stemming from incidents on buses be withdrawn and everyone be guaranteed safety aboard buses.

Rogers denounced the company's action in letting the company suspend service. He said it should have brought about negotiations. The leader said he still hoped white community pressure on the bus company to get the carriers moving would still bring on negotiations.

Labor group expels Epton

NEW YORK, (UPI) — Socialist Labor Party expelled William Epton, 32, recently indicted by the New York grand jury on charges of criminal anarchy, has been expelled from the Negro American Labor Council.

Steady Labor remarks calling for the overthrow of the Government, his $10,000 bail was posted by the son of a U.S. $1 millionaire, and he pleaded innocent.

Mr. Randolph stated that "the NALC is committed to the philosophy, program and practice of free, democratic trade unionism, and is therefore opposed to, and rejects, Communism and Communism as a menace and a danger to the colored freedom movement and the labor movement."

'One colored spokesman' theory branded 'Illusion'

NEW YORK—Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the NAACP lashed out at what he called "an illusion" which many people are propagating that one person can speak for the entire colored population.

Asked on the radio program, "Let's Find Out," last Sunday, if there was any one single colored leader who speaks for Harlem, Mr. Wilkins, declaring that there was not, added:

House votes increases in staff and allowances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members have voted to give themselves bigger staff payrolls and extra expense allowance next year.

Representatives appointed by voice vote legislation that would give each member an extra clerk, a new maximum salary of $19,300 yearly for their highest paid office worker and a total payroll allowance of almost $75,000.

THE MEASURE, going into effect Jan. 3, 1965, also would double the present allotment
