

Doug - this is the story Jesse Allen wanted
you to have. Call us about it, OK?

Tom H.

The story of Linda McAlpine illustrates one of the many small but real ways in which Newark's war-on-poverty can reach people in distress.

Linda is a six-year-old who attends the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center and School in Belleville. She ~~is~~ lives at 316 Peshine Ave., in the heart of the area being organized by the People's Action Group, an anti-poverty area board. One day recently a member of the PAG met Linda sitting on her porch. Her problem was that she had no ~~wheel~~ wheel chair. The area board got to work and was able to produce the needed wheel chair for her in no time.

Linda's mother, Mrs Jessie McAlpine, says she thinks the PAG is "wonderful".

ALSO

The PAG, along with other area boards, will be giving out Christmas toys for needy children. ~~The~~^{OR} ~~PAG~~ Children ~~and~~ their parents can go to the PAG at noon Saturday.

- fishing people want wheelchairs -
- Detective Clark makes -
- learned during play circuits -
- saw her on porch during play street
- Moshlyt McClam -
- paralyzed since birth - 1 of 3 children - 2 brothers -
- mother ^{with} types for her hand -
- school mother want chair - never got an wheelchair